Our Year in Review

Over the past several years, Person-to-Person has implemented a series of initiatives to expand the range of services we provide, extend our reach to those who are in need of these services and enhance our ability to provide these services in the most effective and efficient manner.

While the impetus for these initiatives is based upon our desire to ensure that P2P continues to meet the changing needs of the people we serve, it coincided with a marked increase in the number of people requiring assistance as a result of the economic downturn.

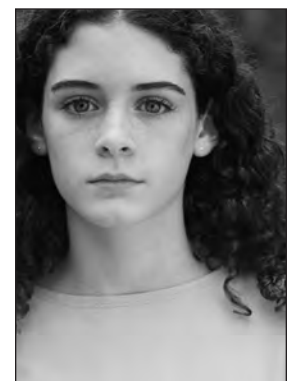

Some of the work occurred behind the scenes. An in-depth assessment of our service delivery and client outcomes led to development of new programs and provided tools for evaluating and recalibrating our existing programs. We updated our website, our technology and our equipment. With a focused development campaign, in which we are identifying and soliciting more and larger grants from corporations, foundations and other grantmakers, our operating budget kept pace with the demand for our services.

A significant undertaking was the two-year renovation project that began with construction of a self-serve Emergency Food Pantry, continued with refurbishment of the Clothing Center and culminated with renovation of the entire building. Completed on time and on budget, it has resulted in more space for client services, an improved working environment for our volunteers and staff and more welcoming surroundings for all.

We celebrated the distinguished 28-year career of Judy Kilmartin, who helped define and improve the agency during her tenure as Director of Volunteers – from her role in establishing Kid-to-Kid and the Youth Group to providing counsel to successive executive directors, development directors and board members. A professional with substantial experience in the non-profit sector, the appointment of Kathleen Bordelon as her successor ensured a smooth transition. Joining P2P as Director of Finance and Administration, Julie Pearson contributed immeasurably to the success of our renovation project. And after a comprehensive search, we welcomed caseworker Natasha Ducasse – who has a solid knowledge of the issues and opportunities facing our clients and, with a fluency in English, French and Creole, has enhanced our ability to serve all who come to us for help.

Our long-standing commitment to forging partnerships that allow us to reach, and help, more people continues as a result of a pilot program with Family Centers and Domus. This collaborative effort not only produced an unprecedented level of inter-agency cooperation, but also resulted in a 17% increase in self-sufficiency among the families served.

There are people who may need assistance in the form of food or clothing to stretch limited budgets; and there are others who will experience a situational crisis that compels them to reach out for financial assistance, counseling and referrals. Regardless of the reason, we continue to evolve our service-model to meet the need in our community . . . one person at a time.

Person-to-Person

Our Programs

Meeting the Needs of Those Who Need Us Most

We began our work in 1968 by providing help with basic necessities for individuals and families who were struggling to survive in one of the wealthiest counties of our nation. To this day, our Emergency Assistance Program accounts for the bulk of the services we provide.

More than 22,000 individuals came to us for assistance in 2010, 25% of whom were people who had never before needed our help. We distributed over $7 million through the program – to help people avoid eviction, fill emergency prescriptions, catch up on utilities bills or move into permanent housing. And we brightened the holidays for 759 families who were given a Dove holiday basket and 1,211 children who received a toy and book . . . because we understand that the quality of one’s life is measured by more than food, clothing and shelter.

Keeping Children Safe During the Summer Months

Each summer, the working poor are faced with the challenge of keeping their children safe when schools are closed. With incomes that barely cover basic expenses, the options available to these families are severely limited – forcing parents to make hard choices for the care of their children during the summer months.

Working with social workers in the Stamford public elementary schools we identified those families, from among the thousands with children who qualify for free or reduced-cost lunch, having the greatest need for our Campership Program; enrolling 600 children in area day camps last summer.

The benefits are many. For the children, whether camp offers an oasis of calm and stability or provides academic support, it gives them the chance to learn and thrive in an environment that is rich with stimulating activities. For the parents, the program is a lifeline . . . providing them the peace of mind that their children are cared for and safe while they are working.

Creating a Lifetime of Possibility

While much of the work that we do provides a safety net for the people who come to us for assistance, our Scholarship Program funds the dreams and aspirations of students seeking higher education and a different life.

Through the Harriet McCorkle Scholarship Fund, the Lockhart Family Charitable Trust Scholarship, the Napolitano Family Scholarship Fund and the Martin Luther King Jr. Scholarship, we have granted over $1.7 million in scholarships over the past five years . . . offering opportunity to more than 400 young women and men and a path toward self-sufficiency.

Person-to-Person

Our Clients

Person-to-Person offers a helping hand to people from various backgrounds and with a variety of needs. Regardless of the circumstances, they all have one thing in common – they are working their way through times of economic uncertainty.

Last year we continued to see many people who had never been to P2P or any social services agency before – more than 5,300. Of the 22,431 individuals we helped, many will never again require our assistance. And for the low-income families who were among the first to be impacted by the recession and who will be among the last to benefit from the recovery, the services we provide – free clothing and groceries; counseling and referrals; financial assistance – not only meet their immediate needs, but also offer hope for a more secure future.

Because of the generous support we received from our donors – from the contributions to our Annual Appeal, Campership and Scholarship Programs, to the donations of food and clothing – we were able to address a range of situations as we worked to ensure positive outcomes.

Alice: Forced to flee her native country with her four children, Alice had also abandoned an established career. Struggling to provide for her children, she needed help to achieve re-certification in her profession so she could begin to build a life for herself and her family here.

Anne: A 65-year-old single woman struggling with a second bout of cancer, Anne was unable to work due to the illness and lost her health care coverage. To pay for her medical expenses, she quickly went through her retirement funds and savings; often forced to choose between paying for her cancer treatment or her living expenses. Although Anne found work again, she is still catching up on bills that had gone unpaid and needed help to avoid losing her home.

Nestor: A widower who not only suffered a personal loss when his wife died, but also experienced the loss of her income. With limited financial resources, Nestor needed a safe place for his children when school closed for the summer.

Johann: The last few years had been particularly difficult for Johann, his wife and their son. Having lost his job, Johann had been able to find temporary assignments only. The family had cut back on all non-essentials to live within a budget based on his unemployment benefits and his wife's modest income. Then, with the real possibility of a full-time job, the car broke down. They had depleted their savings, but P2P covered the cost of car repairs so that Johann would be able to interview for what he hoped would be a promising new job.
